Complete with a Leads and Properties Manager

Many investors waste hours of precious time every week trying to organize their leads. No longer do you have to keep leads written on notepads or post it notes or worry about losing a deal because you forgot to follow up on a lead.

When a lead comes in through your website it will be automatically delivered to you by email, and stored in your private BackOfficePro database.

The BackOfficePro has built in capability of adding multiple users. With multiple user access you can assign certain users access to different parts of the BackOfficePro database while keeping them out of areas they don't need to be in. This is an awesome feature for those investors who have grown their business to the point that they have employees handling many of the day to day tasks.

The lead management system tracks your Property Seller Leads, Buyer Leads, Wholesale Buyer Leads, Money Partner Leads, Loss Mitigation/Foreclosure Leads and more.

Selecting a lead allows you to view and edit all lead details and follow up with an email or make note of other communications with your lead, and is capable of keeping a record of each communication, allowing you to set follow up dates so that you can stay on top of every lead. If you like, the system will even send you an email reminder when you have a lead that needs to be contacted.

The BackOfficePro database has advanced features that put the power of technology to work for you. BackOfficePro allows you to quickly and easily match buyers in your database to your properties. You may send targeted emails, simple text flyers, or full blown HTML flyers to your buyers instantly letting them know about your available properties. This is an especially important feature for real estate wholesalers who need the ability to send out hundreds of email notices with just a few clicks of the mouse.
